Ronan Keating, Let Me Love You

Do you need nights, ticket stubs, cinema lines?
Catching the bus
Waiting underneath street lights
The sky was gold
The moon was low
We were higher
Summer good bye
Something about the two of us
But maybe it was only time
Until our stars aligned

Let me love you
Now I know what love is for
I don't need to search no more
I've never ever felt so sure
Now I know what love is for

Last thing I heard you're travelling now, seeing the world
Not touching the ground
Saw you in a photograph
I never said what I needed to say
I left it too late and you slipped away
Some bonfires don't burn out
There were flames through the roof
You walked in the room

So, let me love you
Now I know what love is for
I don't need to search no more
I've never ever felt so sure
So, let me love you
Should've told you long before
Now I know what love is for!
