BarlowGirl, Time For You To Go

I hope you don't mind that I know your life
Because I read it everyday
And all your faults make me feel so good
Because the media stole my brain
And it's so nice to have someone tell me what to think
What is it for? Do we want more? Do we want more?
And on and on it goes till all of us are sucked in
So shut it off and see we're missing out on living
And I am so done listening to you
Time for you to go, time for you to go, ooh, whoa
I refuse to give one more day to you
Time for you to go, time for you to go, ooh, whoa
No more wasting my life on this world's addiction
Time for me to take you down from your place
I am letting go, time for you to go
Isn't it nice to know that the media will sway our votes?
'Cause seriously we've got to see that they choose what we know
Our morals get thrown away for the next big thing we've got to see
What is it for? Do we want more? Do we want more?
And on and on it goes till all of us are sucked in
So shut it off and see we're missing out on living
And I am so done listening to you
Time for you to go, time for you to go, ooh, whoa
I refuse to give one more day to you
Time for you to go, time for you to go, ooh, whoa
No more wasting my life on this world's addiction
Time for me to take you down from your place
I am letting go, time for you to go
We missing out on His voice
We've traded God for ashes
We've got to think for ourselves
Where's our passion?
And I am so done listening to you
Time for you to go, time for you to go, ooh, whoa
I refuse to give one more day to you
Time for you to go, time for you to go, ooh, whoa
No more wasting my life on this world's addiction
Time for me to take you down from your place
I am letting go, time for you to go