People search but they don't know what they're searching for
People hurt but they don't know what they're hurting for
People lost but they don't know what they're looking for
People search but they don't know what they're searching for

Living, giving
The rhythm of your soul is calling out to you
You'd better listen
Listen good

Nothing stopping
You fulfilling every wish and every thought
You know there's a power inside of you

Don't look for love
Don't look for; let it find you
Don't look for love
Don't look for love; let it find you
Don't look for love
Don't look for love
Don't look for; let it find you
Don't look for love
Don't look for love; let it find you

People search but they don't know what they're searching for
People work but they don't know what they're working for
People hurt but they don't know what they're hurting for
People search but they don't know what they're searching for

Living, giving
The rhythm of your soul is calling out to you
You'd better listen
Listen good

Seeing, feeling is believing
Do what you wanna do
You know there's a power inside of you

Don't look for love
Don't look for; let it find you
Don't look for love
Don't look for love; let it find you
Don't look for love
Don't look for love
Don't look for; let it find you
Don't look for love
Don't look for love; let it find you

People search but they don't know what they're searching for
People lost but they don't know what they're looking for
People work but they don't know what they're working for
People search but they don't know what they're searching for

Living, giving
The rhythm of your soul is calling out to you
You'd better listen
Listen good

Nothing stopping
You fulfilling every wish and every thought
You know there's a power inside of you

Don't look for love
Don't look for; let it find you
Don't look for love
Don't look for love; let it find you
Don't look for love
Don't look for love
Don't look for; let it find you
Don't look for love
Don't look for love; let it find you

Love, love
Let it find you
