Autopilot Off, Underrated

I waited patiently for you to come around,
and I sacrificed my sanity to keep from breaking down.
I always thought of you and forgot about myself,
but the only one you care about is you and no one else.
I used to be so naive.
You never cared about me.
Now I see that I can't achieve everything that you want from me.
Honesty was all I asked but you just let me down.
Countless times I gave you the benefit of the doubt.
You think that I'm a fool and you'll get away with it.
This time I'm not so willing to forgive and forget

Feeling unappreciated Dedication? Understated.
Everything is so complicated,
I think that I'm underrated.
You said you could handle it.
You said "Go ahead and quit".
Now you'll finally get your wish,
so just try not to choke on it.