

112, After the love has gone

For a while, to love was all we could do We were young and we knew in our eyes, where we lie De