Jan Howard, You'd Better Go

You'd better go each moment that you linger makes me forget his ring is on my finger
We love each other that I knew so we must draw the line
You'd better go before I change my mind
You'd better go for I'm afraid your charms
We'll shatter my resistance and I'll end up in your arms
He loves me so and dear you know I hate to be unkind
You'd better go before I change my mind

To keep you here would thrill me be unmeasured
But we're not always free to do the things that bring us pleasure
He loves me so and dear you know we'd hate ourselves in time
You'd better go before I change my mind you'd better go before I change my mind
