Joe Christmas, East Coast Angle

What can you see in the daytime sky

What do you see in the sky at night

You've been taking cold showers everyday of your life

Looking for the lost parts since '89

Searching for the sum as it all flys by

I've gotta find the roadmaps before we can drive

We gather our stamps and say our goodbyes

We crank up our amps nearly every night

We gotta try our best not to fuss and fight

You gotta give up the 1/2s

And make room for the wholes

I can't afford to be mad at you 'cause

You're 1/2 of me.