Patsy Cline, Today, Tomorrow, And Forever

Written by Bobbie Lyle
(As recorded by Patsy Cline April 25, 1957)
Last night I met a woman
You'll recognize her name
Who, in our conversation
Told me you were her old flame
Well, I didn't want to listen
But as she told me more
I learned more about you
Than I ever knew before
CHORUS:
(You're keepin') too many secrets from me
But, baby, now I'm wise to you
You'll fool me like the others
And I know what you'll do
You'll find yourself a new love
And keep me a secret, too
Well, I walked up to a counter
To buy some cigarettes
And standin' there beside me
Was a gal I'd never met
She pulled out her wallet
And, much to my surprise
There she held your picture, baby
Right before my eyes
REPEAT CHORUS (2x)
You'll find yourself a new love
And keep me a secret, too
