Kate Ceberano, Changing With The Years

Kate Ceberano - Changing with the Years
****

As a little girl I used to hate the rain
Rain put an end to games I'd love to play
Rain meant running off the beach
And spoilt a perfect day
As a little girl the rain was not my friend
Picnics were out no pretty clothes to went
Rain meant staying In all day
Or ruining my hair

Chorus
But I guess I'm changing with the years
Cause now I love the rain it clears the air
Making mirrors out of sidewalks
Painting rainbows everywhere
As a little girl I never liked that boy
Called me names then he'd laugh and run away
I would try and hide from him
'But that was yesterday

Chorus
So I guess I'm changing with the years
Cause now I love that boy
He's by my side
Making mirrors out of sidewalks
Painting rainbows just for me to ride
Sax solo
Calendars and clocks are no
Excuse for tears I'm so glad I've been Changing with the years

Guitar solo

Chorus
So I guess I'm changing with the years
Now I love the rain it clears the air
Making mirrors out of sidewalks
Painting rainbows everywhere
So I guess I'm changing with the years
Cause now I love that boy
He's by my side
Making mirrors out of sidewalks
Painting rainbows just for me to ride
Changing with the years my life's been
Changing, changing x
