Fair, The Dumbfound Game

You say won't be fooled again
Without a simple please
You drug me there and back and then
You tried to make your peace

It's just a simple mistake
Tomorrow I won't relate
I only wonder if the question remains

Could someone show me how to feel?
Take heart, be still?
Forget this ringing in my ears?
Breathe deep, be here?

A bother makes a sacrafice
I hope the pulpit sees
But in your debt you can't decide
Another violent seed

It's always the same
I'm playing the dumbfound game
It's as if I couldn't see
The callus I've come to be
