Hank Snow, It's Over, Over Nothin'

The sweetest thing that ever came into my life was you
The only girl in this whole world that turned my grey skies blue
Your tender love like a velvet glove enclosed around my heart
Told me we'd still be lovers when this old world fell apart

But now it's over over nothin'
My heart just felt the final curtain fall
And now it's over over nothin' it's over over nothin' at all
[steel]
We climbed the highest mountain then you always held my hand
And in my darkest moments you were there to understand
Then a hasty word misunderstood and pride that took command
May all those castles that love built come tumbling down in sand
But now it's over...
