

16th Avenue, A Night In Villa

Did it hurt to see me again
Across the room with all your friends
I miss the flower in your hair
I miss the hazel that was your stare
We chased our nerves with fireball
You brought me up against a wall
And I knew it from the start
That I would fall apart but something are Worth fighting for
And though it never began things never
Go as planned I just want you to know to know that I still care
I remember the call after that night you were scared to stick by my side
Was it just a thrill or a big mistake did you just enjoy the way I taste
You hit my lips like a ,
I lock the door to buy some time
And maybe I should just move on
Our taken form the game
Your friends already hate me
Protecting your loyalty
Forget the girl forget the kiss and move along
You can find another begin to love her no regret
But I cant no I can't
