Hedley, Brave New World

Hello, I love you
Won't you tell me your name?
Hello, I need you
Like a bullet to my brain

It seems I'm never breaking free
While you sit and watch me bleed
When the night falls theres nowhere to go

I won't let you in, let you see me cry
I can't give you that satisfaction this time
And do you really get what you need
Beating the hell out of me?
I'm so tired of getting up off the floor
I won't take this anymore
I won't take this anymore

So low but still breathing
Funny how you show you care
Is hell still beneathe me?
Or am I already there?

It seems I'm never breaking free
While you sit and watch me bleed
When the night falls there nowhere to go

I won't let you in, let you see me cry
I can't give you that satisfaction this time
And do you really get what you need
Beating the hell out of me?
I'm so tired of getting up off the floor
I won't take this anymore

All thats left in this brave new world
Is ticking clocks and dancing girls
And broken hearts do find
Another way to shut it all out
Take some time, enough to see
This point of view when on your knees
Electric hearts will play a song you've heard
A thousand times, a thousand times

I won't let you in, let you see me cry
I can't give you that satisfaction this time
And do you really get what you need
Beating the hell out of me?
I'm never gonna spread your disease
So take your hands off of me
I'm so tired of getting up off the floor
I won't take this anymore
I won't take this anymore
