Holly Conlan, Ugliest side of possiblity

Something in you has tied something in me
To the ugliest side of possibility
Now that I know you, I just want to know
If there is reason to stay or somewhere to go
From here.
I'm dying to see if I
Can make you want me
More than you did yesterday
Never a catch that will catch me off guard
I'm playing a game, but the rules aren't so hard
I just wanna find myself deep in your heart
And with you surrendered, I'll love you and tear you apart
I'm dying to see if I
Can make you want me
More than you did yesterday
And I don't know if I mean what I say
But the moment pulls out the words anyway
Something in you has tied something in me
To the ugliest side of possibility
Farther than light is the darkest of dreams
And are on the furthest to get what I, get what I need
Cuz looking for love takes to long
It requires someone patient and strong
And I don't have the time for all that
If you just lead me straight to the fact
That you want me more that you did
Yesterday