Informatik, Nameless

how can this have happened now you're all alone

who's going to know if you make a difference don't make a sound then no one's sure to listen if now's not the time when will it be better with this frame of mind change will take forever

if no one says a word then who's going to stop them do you not recall we've seen this all before our hardest lesson learned too easily forgotten how far will they go we've got to tell them so forming from a sea of nothing turned into reality all defined by our perception we're our only enemy