Ty Herndon, I Know How The River Feels

They say for everyone there's that certain one out there, somewhere I'd been looking hard searching every heart
Getting nowhere
Didn't know I was making my way to you

Now I know how the river feels
When it reaches the sea
And finally finds a place
It was always meant to be Holding fast, home at last
Knowing the journey's through
Lying here with you
I know how the river feels

Miles of loneliness, now make perfect sense
Here beside you Tears like waterfalls, they were worth them all
Just to find you
And these are the last arms
I'll run to

Now I know how the river feels
When it reaches the sea
And finally finds a place
It was always meant to be
Holding fast, home at last
Knowing the journey's through
Lying here with you
I know how the river feels
