Kashif Ibadullah Khan, I Know

I know that i am the loser of the game
I Have the Will to Keep going, but Time has changed Try for you, Cry for you someday i 'll die for you Still my these words have the strength.

I Know I know I Know
i am the loser of the game
I Know I Know I Know
I Try the best I can

I can read my heart with the lifeless beats and now i am just walking down on the street sitting on the cornor, singing songs about the change thinking about my restless heart, feeling my cold breaths.

I Know I know I Know
i am the loser of the game
I Know I Know I Know
I Try the best I can

I know i can think better then i can do but there is no way out when the mettar is you i just want to set myself free form your octopus memories i wounder and now i belive how lies becomes true.

I Know I know I Know
i am the loser of the game
I Know I Know I Know
I Try the best I can