Kate Miller-Heidke, Ducks don't need satellites

ducks don't need satellites
ducks don't need satellites
they probably don't know there up there
ducks don't need satellites
they don't satellites they most likely think the sky ends blue
ducks don't need satellites
ducks don't need satellites
they probably don't know there up there
ducks don't need satellites
they don't satellites they most likely think the sky ends blue don't need to think about the black give a quack get a quack quack back dont need some mental far away telling them the weather today so they can say 'how bout it'? ducks don't need telephones
ducks don't need telephones perfectly happy to just swim along ducks don't need telephones they don't need answering machines to know the choice is theirs and that somebody cares no need to think about the black
give a quack get a quack quack back even people give them that did you ever hear a duck say quack and say 'hello' back Ducks don't need satellites
They probably don't know they're up there (and don't care)
Ducks don't need satellites
They don't need satellites They most likely think the sky ends blue Don't you wish you did too?