2 Unlimited, Tuning Into Something

Tuning into something wild Like a comet from space Like a slap in the face You can feel it coming Like a push in the back Turning white into black You're feeling something wild now! You're feeling something wild now! Hey precious, hey burning child Time to tune to something wild It's new, it's hot, it's all you're not Don't turn back, it's all we've got You're breathless, you're out of step Time to learn just what is hip If you think you're in a jumble That's the way the cookie crumbles Tuning into something wild Tuning into something Like a comet from space Like a slap in the face You can feel it coming Like a push in the back Turning white into black You're feeling something wild now! Wilder and wilder You can feel it coming! Well, maybe so-- we're in a mess World gone wrong but don't forget There's a groove that makes you wonder How the hell they sample thunder It's glorious, it's boom, boom, boom Bless the noise that shakes the room If you think we're getting milder Brace yourself for something wilder Tuning into something wild Tuning into something Like a comet from space Like a slap in the face You can feel it coming Like a push in the back Turning white into black You're feeling something wild now! Like a comet from space Like a slap in the face You can feel it coming Like a push in the back Turning white into black You're feeling something wild now! Hey Yeah Brace yourself! Brace yourself! Tuning into something wild Tuning into something wild Tuning into something wild Like a comet from space Like a slap in the face You can feel it coming Like a push in the back Turning white into black You're feeling something wild now! Like a comet from space Like a slap in the face You can feel it coming Like a push in the back

Turning white into black You're feeling something wild now! Like a comet from space Like a slap in the face You can feel it coming Like a push in the back Turning white into black You're feeling something wild now! Like a comet from space Like a slap in the face You can feel it coming Like a push in the back Turning white into black You're feeling something wild now!