Noctiferia, Evil Against Evil

evil against evil
here I stand far from the mind of the weak and the life of devotion where all is a straight line new nation is approaching in distance and time higher mind will prevail with its might and disregard my aversion leads to minority hate brings destruction now all is a distant fear they will never ask if the truth is utility or harm questions which are bringing fear are never heard on our ground they can't understand become aware of selfishness much more indifference is needed
my aversion leads to minority
hate brings destruction
now all is a distant fear
evil against evil
eternal blindness dominates our world negative emotions are crushing our minds absence of humanity remains in their hands expose your religion and presence of god let me be your guide let me be your leader
evil against evil