Norma Jean, He's Gone Gone Gone

He said if I ever deceived him he'd been gone before I could count ten
I guess that I didn't believe him cause look at the trouble I'm in He's gone gone gone gone gone gone crying won't bring him back
The more that I cry the faster than train flies farther on down the track (guitar)
I lost every right to be happy when I lost the heaven I found
He warned me he'd leave and he left me before my first tear hit the ground
He's gone gone gone...
(steel)
If I only knew where to find him I'd crawl there on my hands and knees
Each tick of the clock sublime her he's one second farther from me
He's gone gone gone...
Farther on down the track
