One Night Only, Never Be The Same

You see colors fly around your head
And you don't know why, you don't know why
You called out his name, and what's left unsaid
And you don't know why, you don't know why

And with all these clouds high above you
I guess it's gonna rain
And there's no one left to love you
It'll never be the same, it'll never be the same

Someone said his name and it broke your heart
And you don't know why, you don't know why
You look up at the sky while you neal and pray
And you wonder why, you don't know why

And with all these clouds high above you
I guess it's gonna rain
Now there's no one left to love you
It'll never be the same, it'll never be the same

All alone you count the days
And all you know just flies away
All in favour, scream it wide
Just plead your head to love or cry
And say goodbye

Someone said his name and it broke your heart
And you don't know why, you don't know why
You look up at the sky while you neal and pray
And you wonder why, you don't know why

And with all these clouds high above you
I guess it's gonna rain
Now there's no one left to love you
It'll never be the same, it'll never be the same [x4]