Pulse Ultra, Void

You're sad cause you found yourself
And the boredom is killing you
You know all the cracks in your wall
They're staring right back at you
In time you will see

You're not alone in this tonight
I know your void
The boredom is killing you -- take flight
Away from yourself

Disguise yourself in your masks
And you're running away from life
You're balancing on the thin line
You'd better rush back to shore
In time you will see
There's no running

A restless static in your being
Alters everything you're seeing
When all the outlets seem so worn
You shouldn't feel so torn

You're not alone in this tonight
There's more than one
Person inside of you, take flight
Away from yourself