So They Say, The Burden

Is it necessary to try to carry this burden alone.
If it were any other day I would stay to satisfy the urge for hope! But its dead, I'm running away.

It's so real, he said to the man with time on his hands.
I don't think your ready,
and I don't think I am ready to know.

It's so real, he said to the man with time on his hands.
I don't think your ready to go,
and I don't think I am ready to know.

Is it necessary to leave us all behind.
In the smoke filled room my eyes will dry with the world on my shoulders.
Waiting for light to show a path cause I can't do this by myself, do this by myself!

It's so real, he said to the man with time on his hands.
I don't think your ready,
and I don't think I am ready to know.

It's so real, he said to the man with time on his hands.
I don't think your ready, and I don't think I am ready to know. [x4]