The Monkees, Little Red Rider

Little red rider, ride on the railroad
And she cried
Little red rider, ride on the railroad
And waved goodbye

So long sunshine, ride away
I know you'll come back someday
And I do not lie

Little Miss Red's asleep on the railroad
There she goes
Little Miss Red's asleep on the railroad
And no one knows
And Little Miss Red is Little Miss Blue
And she looks a lot like you, around the eyes

Nobody was home in town
Oh, nobody was home in town
Nobody was home in the town I called home
Somebody said they all had drowned

Bye bye, sweet miss, give me one kiss
And then I'll go
Bye bye, sweet miss, give me one kiss
But don't let it show

Then turn your brown eyes to the wall
Was that message there before
You were so wise
