The Psychedelic Furs, Tearing Down

i can't wait to say goodbye before you break in you, i get torn in two you don't see my reflection in my scenes you fall, i don't come at all i can almost feel you bleed

you've been falling in too deep

i can almost hear you say but your words get in my way

why wait?

there's a world outside

why wait?

for the reason why

i come soon from the shelter of my room you don't move

coming down on you

i can't fall

all that does is made to crawl i'm one, leave the world undone

why wait?

why wait?

for the reasons why

it ain't always what i want

it ain't always mine

why wait?

you can't win coming from the state you're in you don't see my reflections and my scenes

you fall, i don't come at all

why wait?

why wait?

why wait?

why wait?
