Tracy Lawrence, Alibis

She knows every move that a man could make now she knows every trick in the book
She knows how to give she knows how to give she knows how to take
But so many times she's been taken and fooled
By those alibis and lyin' eyes and all the best lines Lord knows she's heard 'em all
She's been cheated on and pushed around and left alone
Lord knows what I've put her through
And boy you can bet if a move can be made she knows how to make it on you

She once thought that love wasn't just a game
Her feeling's once came from the heart
One day I gave her a wedding ring one night I tore all those feeling's apart
By those alibis...
By those alibis...