

911, The Journey

Time waits for no one, sure as the tide pulls the ocean
Sure as the path that's been chosen, cannot be changed
I my life's destination, I searched for the explanation some kind of reason, for my sorrow and pain
But in my isolation I learned to listen
To be thankful for the love that I'd been given

This is my Journey, Journey through life
With every twist and turn I've laughed and cried
As the road unwinds
This is my journey, and I've learned to fight
To make strong enough, to lift me up,
To bring my dreams alive

In desperation, I swore that never again
Would I hear all the laughter of my friends and my family
A million tears ive cried then began to dry
And in the silence of the night time, I came to realise
A sweet inspiration filled my horizon
Gave me the heart to go on and never would give in

This is my Journey, Journey through life
With every twist and turn I've laughed and cried
As the road unwinds
This is my journey, and I've learned to fight
To make strong enough, to lift me up,
To bring my dreams alive

I'm going to love each moment, of every day and every night
I'll look back to the past with the sweetest smile
For now I realise, I've been given the key to life
I've been kissed by the angel by my side
