

98 Degrees, Yesterday's Letter

I wrote a letter yesterday
Just trying to explain
Couldn't find the words to say
'Cause you are so far away
So far away

I wrote a letter yesterday
It's so hard for me to face
That it had to end this way
But my love will never change
Will never change

When I search my soul to find the truth
About the love we shared
I wonder why you're no longer here

You can just walk away
But I don't feel the same
My heart still beats for you
Breathes for you, sings for you
And those feelings will never fade
I can hide my pain
I can never hide the way I feel for you

I've been talking in my sleep
About the way it used to be
Girl I pray that you hear me
Then I'll see you in my dreams
Oh, in my dreams

Well I can't forget the words you said
To move on with my life
And no matter what I'll carry you inside

You can just walk away
But I don't feel the same
My heart still beats for you
Breathes for you, sings for you
And those feelings will never fade
I can hide my pain
I can never hide the way I feel for you

Sooner or later
You're gonna realize
That this type of love
Happens once in your life
So open your eyes girl
And see what we could be (Come back to me)

You can just walk away
But I don't feel the same
My heart still beats for you
Breathes for you, sings for you
And those feelings will never fade
I can hide my pain
I can never hide the way I feel for you

You can just walk away
But I don't feel the same
My heart still beats for you
Breathes for you, sings for you
And those feelings will never fade
I can hide my pain

I can never hide the way I feel for you