A Skylit Drive, Balance

Our differences set us apart... they can't bind me Our hearts have been equivalent from the start... if only I spoke these words at the right time At a loss for words to build the right line

Reflect a traitor to make my mind cry open Behave ... like gentlemen ... like proper men we dive in Live... you'll be the proof of my existence My pride my dreams They all belong just to me

So alive we coexist .. so envious .. we pray for this

Listen to my story .. this may be our last chance Cause people die and people dance

Reflect a traitor to make my mind cry open Behave ... like gentlemen ... like proper men we dive in Live... you'll be the proof of my existence My pride and dreams They all belong just to me

So alive we coexist .. so envious .. we pray for this

Listen to my story .. this may be our last chance Cause people die and people dance