A Smile From The Trenches, Lied In Sin

You thought I died But my soul was still alive Inside and out Screaming for your love It's what I aim for And all I ever wanted was in But it worked out the way you wanted So burn my body in the fire that you made And I'm burning within so escape the fate A tragic heart shed without hope within Scream your name grab your legs as you walk away I always thought it was meant to be But the whole time it was a hateful theme I'll lay my corpse in the water (so you won't get wet) I'll smother the flames with my skin (you live in regret) You thought I died But my soul was still alive Inside and out Screaming for your love It's what I aim for And all I ever wanted was in But it worked out the way you wanted So burn my body in the fire that you made And I'm burning within so escape the fate A tragic heart shed without hope within Scream your name grab your legs as you walk away (Escape the fate) So burn my body in the Fire that you made And I'm burning within so Escape the fate A tragic heart shed

I'm burning in the flames Scream your name

Grab your legs as you walk away
