

Aaron Carter, So Much to Say

I done drove every back road and drank every bear
With the cards on the table, I'm going all in
I got lost on my way to find you
I'm getting lost when I try to find you

Another one down
And you're watching
And I hear the sound
Of a pin dropping
And days turn to nights
But nights turn to day
If I could go back, I would
I got so much to say

I was tired of fighting anyway
When I look in the past
I'm glad that we're done, but still
Oh, it's gonna hurt like hell
When the sun don't shine tomorrow
I won't be there
I been there before
Won't you think about it, yeah
'Cause I did
Woke up and you're gone, dear
I must be dreaming again

Remember doing donuts in your dad's car
In the backseat, didn't last long
I was eighteen with a bad heart
And last girl I ever loved was the sad part

I told you I'd be
Waiting till you come
Back home
Back home
Days turn to nights
The nights turn to day, yeah
If I could go back, I would
I got so much to say

I was tired of fighting anyway
When I look in the past
I'm glad that we're done, but still
Oh, it's gonna hurt like hell
When the sun don't shine tomorrow
I won't be there
I been there before
Won't you think about it, yeah
'Cause I did
