

Abominant, Treasures Of Darkness

One step beyond Running straightforward into nocturnal silence The quest for eternal nightmare Full embrace, the darkness lifts you Fire that burns the light Eager to touch the flickering flame What you seek it's within you The tasteless sin of the unforgiven To taste the pleasures of the night Leave us with our sins With our sins we hold them with grace On a pedestal of power We have learned to embrace Coming forth roaring from the darkest places A day with out light, familiar masses mutilated with out faces The weak a great feast, an ungodly prophecy Destroying and devastating the pathetic majority The weak abandon and crushed utterly Nothing more they hold, nothing more they can embrace For all is gone Nothing to salvage, only life I have slayed A price they pay Confrontation and mass desecration Prophetic obliteration, key of devastation The treasure of lies, a gift of evil And such a prize I am awarded In thy arms I embrace the heartless A cause for celebration The old are left to die The cancellation, the end of life In the eyes of lifeless wanders, I see eternity For this is the treasures of darkness The gift within us all.
