

Above The Golden State, One Thirty Nine

When I was yet unformed
You saw me and my days were numbered
You formed me when I was in the dark
You searched me every part turned over
You found what's inside of my heart
Where can I go if I want to be alone?
I turn and You're there
And now, I'm gonna let it out
All I know is Your mercy surrounds me
Your thoughts for me outnumber the sand
Now, I'm gonna sing it out
From my soul, only You understand me
You're holding me inside of Your hands
From the moment I was born
You tried me and You made me stronger
I remember when You let me take control
So I would wonder, who I am and who I'm under?
You broke me to show me who You are
Where can I go if I want to be alone?
I turn and You're there
And now, I'm gonna let it out
All I know is Your mercy surrounds me
Your thoughts for me outnumber the sand, yeah, yeah
Now, I'm gonna sing it out
From my soul, only You understand me
You're holding me inside of Your hands
Outside got into my inside
You won't stop