Absolom, Stars

too many stars take all for granted let me tell you one thing now they keep on dreaming

they feel alive they're feeling so proud how on earth can they survive? let me know in time

never look, never look behind dont u know theres nuthing to find never walk, never walk away tommorrow there'll be another day
