

Abstraction, With You

My life, living in this sweet denial
Every movement being watched
All the time I live around you
Time is slipping through my hands

Me every breath surrendered
I'm sitting in my room
Just waiting for the call
Of best laid plans

I live in the thought of you being here
Sitting next to me
I wanted you to go away
And now I wish for another day
With you

My call has not been answered
I'm in this thing alone
Your footsteps were my guidance
But you led me to my doom

Conclusions have been rendered
You left without a trace
The fear replaced with hatred
And it's targeted at you

I live in the thought of you being here
Sitting next to me
I wanted you to go away
And now I wish for another day
With you