

Acid Death, While The End Is Coming

Within the thin light of every dawn
I see a future which I know I'll miss
I see joy on faces of children and men
I hear all sounds even the snake's hiss

Beyond the cell bars that keep me from you
Remorse is my heaven and fate so strong
And I repent for ever more

Soon I'll be no more I think it's for the best
I've done my deeds and wrong I'll pay
But I see the dawn

This thought drives me mad but I wan to feel
For the last time how a free child laughs

Within dawn's dim light I see forgiveness and serenity
A purple vain over my sins, but I pay mine and I'll pay yours
Before my ending that frees you from me-remorse is Remorse is my heaven and fate is so closed-oh so closed

And I repent for ever more

Strange words-maybe make you feel like this man out there, like the man
Who stands in the beginning of a tale, a tale which seems to be
As honest like a child's kiss