

Adamantium, Within A Dream

I must leave but will not
Fear clutters thought
Without I am alone
Learn from what is known
I see you within a dream
All too dark to be seen
In the past we have talked through friendship
I'm living thought
Why must it happen to us
Our future will be small
But not enough
To make us part is what you sealed inside my heart
It's coming down again
So hard to breathe with these blindfolded eyes
I find myself facing reality
You're not alone
I'm still your friend
Stand right behind you until the fucking end.
