Crashland You took your own life in your hands You had to escape him somehow Oh you knew You knew it would hurt

Pull yourself free With the wreckage at your feet Feel the relief All your doubts and wounds will be Gone Gone

Crashlander There's damage, but at least you're alive The hardest thing you could have done, you've done now It gets easy from hear

As you turn your back on The constellation you flew from You are hurting, lonely, Hopeful, happy

Pull yourself free With the wreckage at your feet There's a million worlds to explore When you're ready the cosmos is yours Yours.
