Adept, Grow Up, Peter Pan

a dance beneath the sparkling sky, the silent touch of vivid grace. your hand fits mine like a perfect match. we kids in lust and the night is young the dance we share will guide the way. the unforgettable romance. you whisper "hope" like no one else. but only for tonight. i am the bullet in your gun you've had me loadet since the day one so play your cards right girl, this beating heart is yours to break! this soldier surrenders, don't hesitate now, this is what you wanted all along. with steady hands she makes her aim - oh oh ohshe locks and loads are you in her way? her smile hits the mark. she has those gorgeous piercing eyes, red coloured lips that suck you dry she is so fashion! her words might seem to make things right, but she will walk on your hopes and dreams tonight. she is so fashion! her words might seem to make things right, she is so fashion, deadly fashion! she's been the talk of our town. so we all know that her words are poison she'll fake a smile when the timing right but that cunt will stab you in the back her eyes are set to make the top. she spread legs like a swing-door opens up my bad, i started this rumour, that you sell your mouth for a dollar! and if i know her right, that precious little whore, she's on her back screaming out for more. with steady hands she makes her aim - oh oh ohshe locks and loads, are you in her way? her smile hits the mark you better shake-shake-shake your body! to the beat that we're making you better shake-shake-shake your body! to the music that we're spreading you better dance-dance-dance forever you're only pretty when you're sweating you better shake-shake-shake you body as we sing to you! as we sing to you! as we sing to you! you always try to get everyone's attention yet you always fail in each and every way tonight