

Adrian Belew, What do you know

What do you know about love only that you live without it it chewed you up and spit you out What d