Adrian Trojanowski, I am the lost one

If I could write some words to the world I would write how I feel badly Of that I love but nobody loves me I would write about that I am the lost one I am the lost one I am the lost one In my history I know nothing I don't believe in happiness If I could write some words to the world I'd write about heart pain, all that badly times I'd write about my history, I'd write about my life I'd write about that I love but nobody loves me I am the lost one I am the lost one I am the lost one In my history I know nothing I don't believe in happieness I am the lost one I am the lost one I am the lost one