

Aereogramme, Broken Horse

Broken horse lay on the ground
There is still love for you now
Broken horse form in the clouds
There is still hope for you now

Broken horse sickness bound
There is still warmth in the house
Patience and strength for you heart
For there is no easy way out

So break the walls that surround
There are stars in the air that surround us
But I know what I've found
You're the only one left to hold on to
And I love you

So break the walls that surround
There are stars in the air that surround us
But I know what I've found
And I love you
