Aereogramme, Broken Horse

Broken horse lay on the ground There is still love for you now Broken horse form in the clouds There is still hope for you now

Broken horse sickness bound There is still warmth in the house Patience and strength for you heart For there is no easy way out

So break the walls that surround There are stars in the air that surround us But I know what I've found You're the only one left to hold on to And I love you

So break the walls that surround There are stars in the air that surround us But I know what I've found You're the only one left to hold on to And I love you

Caroline Caroline Caroline Caroline