Do I know you from this cold life? Soulfull filling love Colors like no one I feel I met you before this life I will find you I will find you I met you before I was flesh only you are real look beyond mankind We walk beyond the thoughts of man I will find you I will find you And if a soul is to know a soul We walk the same spiritual land You are my twin flame we need you to be We wake beyond the world of man When we meet again this journey will end When we meet again this journey will end I know you are there just reach out my hand The warm harbor of truth you send And if a soul is to know a soul It must speak!
