

AFI, Malleus Maleficarum

Open my eyes as I submerge
And I won't deny what I've been since birth.
I'll die drowned by your standards.
Breathe in the life of the summer's death as the orange
And red breathe their first breath,
So welcome as they're burning through.

We all begin to burn.
Autumn's flame dance's in my eyes
Set alight for all we've learned.
My ashes falling.

My skin is singed but it heals my heart
And with glowing pride I'll wear my scars.
I'm honored by your hatred.
Leaves fall we arise again,
And the end impending,
It will begin.
So welcome as it's burning through.

We all begin to burn.
Autumn's flame dance's in my eyes
Set alight for all we've learned.
My ashes falling.

Can you feel me?
Go! (Woah oh)
Go! (Woah oh)
Go! (Woah oh)
Go! (Woah oh)

Ashes fall when I'm rising up again
Ashes fall when I'm rising up again
Ashes fall when I'm rising up again
Ashes fall when I'm rising up again
Ashes fall when I'm rising up again
Ashes fall when I'm rising up again
Ashes fall when I'm rising up again
Ashes fall, ashes fall
Fall, fall
Ashes fall
As we all arise

We all begin to burn.
Autumn's flame dance's in my eyes
Set alight for all we've learned.
My ashes falling.

Can you feel me?
Go! (Woah oh)
Go! (Woah oh)
Go! (Woah oh)
Go! (Woah oh)