

Afromental, Pray For Love

I was young, she was young
We were together like the birds in the sky
Watching stars, catching time
All in hands haven't thought for all the life
There's a pain caused by run away
I never did confess it to world
And now I would like to have it all around
Love back around me
I pray for love
Every day and every night
I pray for love
And I need you by myside x2
Passing years, running days
And all I have is memories flowning
I try to love, try to forget
I try to hide, nothing works for my loneliness
Now i wanna pain caused by run away
And now I want to confess it to world
Now I would like to have it all around
Love back around me
I pray for love,
Every day and every night
I pray for love
And I need you by myside x2