

Against Me!, I Still Love You Julie

Last night a room full drunk sang along to the songs I never had the courage to write given the chance I'd stay in this chorus forever where everything ugly in this world is sadly beautiful in our desperate memories no we're not gonna call anyone on their shit tonight even though the half of you won't even smile the next time we pass on the street maybe somehow this scam will still save us all...

still save us all!

And I saw you dancing at a punk rock show and for a moment we walked streets that everyone else had given up to 4 a.m. cursed promises and spray paint marking everywhere we went and every direction only going as far as we let it there's so many things we tried to do truthfully by the time it's through with us it all falls apart maybe somehow this scam will still save us all...

stilll save us all!