

Agent 5/9, Sweet Zeb Action

Alive and Breathing on a Sunday afternoon

I start to wonder why I feel this good

So you ask why

Well I don't know what to tell you, you make me feel good

And life's starting to feel alot more like it should

[Chorus]

It's all in the way the things you say, that make me wanna stay

It's all in the way the things you say love, that makes me wanna stick around

You say what you can't remember can't hurt you now

Well I'd beg to differ, but I can't remember how

The last thing I don't remember was sleeping with you

I never said that I regret what we do

But could you tell me why I

Feel I need to live before I die

Break

For the longest time I never knew what I had

Never came never went always felt bad

Sometimes it's hard to find a person that'll listen to you

And wont judge the stupid things I always do

Sometimes it's hard to convince yourself you're who you want to be

And when you're living a lie then you're never free

Break From Break

Somethings change when you, give them a chance

I never understood the ways of the world, guess I'll never get the chance
