

Agent Orange, Everything Turns Grey

Things don't seem to be as easy,
As they used to be
And it's getting harder every day
To think of better things to say
About what's going on around you
And what's happening inside you
When it's time to change you won't know how
It won't matter years from now

No matter what you think,
Or do, or say
Everything turns grey

This is it the darkest hour
Isn't it depressing how our Minds create an atmosphere
That won't happen here
Unless we make some new demands
To grasp the future in our hands
You know I wish I could
But it's too late
For senseless minds who love to hate

No matter what they think,
Or do, or say
Everything turns grey

No matter what they think,
Or do, or say
Everything turns grey
